GENERAL NOTES OF SOCIETY.

Personal Items of Interest About Topeka People and Visitors in Town.

A large reception was tendered yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Henry Keeler, Mrs. David J. Small and Mrs. Edwin J.
Small to about 250 ladies at the home of Mrs. Keeler on Harrison street complimentary to Mrs. Elisha Keeler.

The hostess received the guests in the first parlor which was airily decorated in branches of asparagus ferns, arching out from over dainty curtained windows, the pictures and mantelpiece. The mantel was also veiled in a mist of this delicate green foliage through which could be seen vases of sweet peas and gyp-sophylla prettily blending together.

Throughout the house asparagus ferns were the prevailing decorations but vases of roses, daisies and pinkies added their dashes of color to the pretty effect.
Pineapple punch was served in the library after which the ladies were invited to the dining room. Here an immense bowl of Le Franc roses stood on the center of the table surrounded by cut-glass bon bon dishes filled with pink and white wafers.

The guests were waited upon by the Misses Nellie Small, Myrtle Davis, Grace Weiss and Mable Knowles, Mesdames John Small, S. Bailey, John McCune, John Bradley, Edwin Knowles, J. R. Johnson, Misses Rosamond Horton, Bessie Gibson, Alice Prescott, Jessie Small, Franc Littlefield, May Wasson and Nettie Thompson assisted in the entertainment of the guests.

Thimble Party.

Mrs. G. J. Mulvane and Mrs. L. H.
Munn entertained about 175 ladies at a very pleasant thimble party yesterday afternoon at the home of the former on Taylor street.

Palms and hanging baskets of pretty vines ornamented the large veranda, which, with its handsome rugs, its chairs, tete-tetes and numerous porch cushions, afforded sufficient attraction for the guests upon their arrival to wish to remain outside. But within, the floral decorations were novel and certainly beautiful. The oak stairway was thickly covered with the trumpet vine and its gorgeous flowers in abundance. On a small table, near the foot of the stairway, was placed the punch bowl, presided over by Mrs. Harry Ashby and Miss Margaret Mulvane.

The front room and library decorations were of sweet peas and roses. In the back parlor the various species of the clematis vine, in full bloom, extended over the doorways, the mantel, and draped gracefully over the waving curtains. Vases of these flowers mingled with asparagus fern were also to be seen.
In the drawing room a large bowl of cape jasmines sent from Galveston stood on the center of the table and daisies and ferns completed the decorations in this room. Mrs. Mulvane and Mrs. Munn were assisted by Mrs. Kate, Mrs. Harry Seery, Mrs. Fred Freeman, Mrs. James Troutman, Misses Dora Furman, Grace Whiting, Margaret Bradley, Lillie Freeman and Olive O'Brien.

The guests were entertained with vocal solos from Mrs. Geo. Parkhurst, Mrs. P. H. Adams; instrumental selections from Misses Olive O'Brien and Margaret Bradley, and a recitation by Miss Kate Whiting.

Mrs. Peffer's Luncheon.

A most delightful luncheon was given yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock by Miss Nellie Peffer complimentary to Mrs.
W. J. Black. Lunch was served at small tables, two of the guests at each table progressing to the next at the end of every course till they had visited the two remaining ladies at all of the five tables. Name cards and a bunch of sweet peas tied with a small bow of pink ribbon rested at each place. The guests were Mesdames W. J. Black, J. F. Jarrell, Arthur Capper, T. E. Pounds, Harry Ashby, Arthur Mills, Arthur Lingafelt, Frank Crane, Misses Darrach of Leavenwere tastefully decorated with cut flowers wedding march.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dainty white silk and carried white roses.

amusement of the evening, after which refreshments were served.

tles of catnip and small beads tied with

The Royal Baking Powder, as every cook knows, is always to be relied upon.
It is one of the greatest aids she has. She is always able with the least trouble to make the very finest biscuits, cakes, muffins and crusts. Many a cook's reputation has been made by the delicious things she has been able to make with it.

DROWNED LIKE DOGS.

A Survivor of the Colima Makes Charges Against the Officers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—Gustav Rowan, one of the survivors of the Colima, has sent a communication to the Call in which he says:

"You can find out what I say is true if you will see the other men picked up.
Some of them will not dare to tell the truth, as they have been promised money to keep still."

"The Colima was lost because she was badly handled by officers without capacity and bad men when the gale struck us. When I saw that the ship was going to sink, I went after the life preservers and commenced to give them out to the passengers. The steward told me to let them alone and ordered me forward. I was saved because I got a life preserver and if the others had been allowed to get them too, many would have been saved with me."

"The passengers were kept penned up until the last moment and then made to go down in the ocean—like a pack of dogs."

"If some of the passengers had killed the steward who kept them from getting safety, it would have been a mercy to the others. In spite of what he told me, I kept giving out life preservers, and this saved some of the people from death."

Rowan, who was badly injured in the wreck, also says that he did not receive proper care on the San Juan, and charges the surgeon of the ship with gross negligence.

The Chronicle says this morning as a result of the Colima disaster a number of suits for damages will be brought against the Pacific Mail company.
Among them is L. R. Brawer, the wealthy planter, whose wife and three children went down on the Colima.

WHICH DIED FIRST?

A Fortune Depends on Whether Prof.
Whiting or His Wife Died First.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The fate of an estate valued at $200,000 depends upon whether Prof. Harold Whiting, of the university, who was lost on the Colima, died before or after his wife, who was drowned on the same voyage.

Just before Prof. Whiting started on his fatal voyage, he made two wills, which he mailed to an old college friend who is now an attorney at Cambridge, Massachusetts.

One was to the effect that if he should be drowned, his estate should go to the surviving members of his family. The other was that in case he and his wife and children were all drowned his estate should revert to the members of his family living in the east. If Prof. Whiting died first his wife and children immediately became his heirs, but if Mrs. Whiting died later her heirs would inherit a small fortune to the exclusion of the heirs of Prof. Whiting in the east.

Two persons who said they were representatives of attorneys have called on A. J. Sutherland and asked him some significant questions. Sutherland was on the same raft with the Whitings and tried to save the professor's life. Sutherland was asked whether Whiting or his wife died first. While the cool headed survivor believes that Mrs. Whiting met her death some time before her husband sank into a watery grave, he could not possibly answer the question as he did not see Mrs. Whiting during the storm.

The grocer sends the new brand of baking powder simply because it costs him much less and he can make more profit by selling it than he can on the Royal. The Royal is made from the very finest materials and costs much more than any other brand, which accounts for its superiority, although it is sold to consumers at the same price.

Killed by a Mule.

WAMEGO, Kan., June 8.—News has reached here that Peter A. Bach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bach, who reside in the northern part of St. George township, was kicked by a mule while hitching the animal, preparatory to plowing corn, and the wound which was made below and on the right side of the navel, proved fatal. He lived but a few hours after the accident.

Mrs. William E. Cook died this morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. D. B. Calcord, 821 Western avenue, at 8 o'clock of pneumonia. Mrs. Cook was 73 years old and leaves a husband and son—Mr. R. H. Lippincott of New York city, besides her daughter and seven grandchildren to mourn her loss. The funeral announcement will be made later.

ELEGANT SPRING COSTUMES.

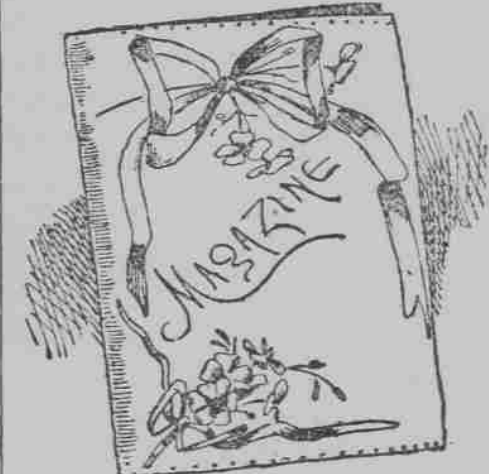

The gown on the right is of heliotrope wool and white cloth with purple braiding. The central figure shows a drab cheviot gown trimmed with indigo velvet and braid. The cape is of cadet cloth bound with velvet and braided. The costume on the left is of mode tricotine with stitched self trimming. The jacket has a scarlet cloth vest with gold braid garniture.

CASE FOR MAGAZINES.

It Costs Much More in Labor Than in Dimes and Cents.

Magazine covers assuredly are not new. They greet us on every side, but, nevertheless they always make acceptable gifts. The one given here is novel in its material and has the merit of costing more in labor than in pence.
The hard times have not yet entirely vanished. Their traces still remain, and many a generous heart is curtailed by lack of means. The magazine cover need cost only an absurdly few cents, and at the same time is both serviceable and attractive.

To make it, buy one-half yard of tailor's canvas. The color is that of unbleached linen and makes a most desirable background. The width is just sufficient to allow of the necessary folds. Turn under each cut edge of the canvas until it is just a little longer than an ordinary magazine and lightly catch them in place. That is, use big stitches and do not catch them through to the right side. When that is done fold under each selvage edge

A SIMPLE CASE.

for three inches and buttonhole the four ends of the pockets so made.
Lastly, apply the decoration. Fold the cover exactly in half and press it, then paint on the canvas any suitable design in monochrome, enlivened by touches of gold. Brown is always good, and perhaps gives the best results. but black, red and almost anything you prefer can be used. In the case of the model the letters and ribbon are in red brown, outlined with gold. The flowers are painted flat, and show the same coloring, only the gold predominates.
They are not designed to be realistic, and are really only suggested forms.
The effect is very charming and the cover has been greatly admired by many folk.—N. Y. Recorder.

BEWARE OF SKINS.

An Important Caution with Regard to the Eating of Fruit.

Fruit skins carry germs and are no more intended for human sustenance than potato skins, melon rinds or pea pods. The bloom of the peach is a luxuriant growth of microbes, that of grape only less so; and when these skins are taken into the stomach they find most favorable conditions for their lively and rapid development which cause the decay of the fruit before it is possible to digest it. This is the reason many persons think they cannot eat raw fruit. If they would in all cases discard the skin they could derive only good from the fruit itself. Nature provides the skin for the protection of the fruit from the multitude of germs which are ever ready to attack it, as is evidenced when the skin is bruised or broken
